organisational analysis, optimisation and implementation

WHAT I DO

Mark Abbot: qualified practitioner in Management Systems, focusing on organisational behaviour and culture; purpose, strategy and its implementation; sustainable development and growth. This expertise has been further expanded to include leadership development and governance support to enable an optimised business focus in an organisation's systems, resources and people.

Mark is a skilled facilitator and change enabler, challenging the status quo and delivering aligned outcomes for projects, stakeholder groups, leadership and executive teams alike.

In the Corporate, NGO and Not-for-Profit Sectors our focus is on enabling and extracting best performance for the long-term through:

- Business optimisation – current state assessment and mapping the opportunities
- Programme and project governance and implementation
- Strategy and direction, or purpose, setting
- Coaching and mentoring – senior to executive teams and individuals
- Organisation structure assessment and implementation
- Workshop facilitation, including:
 - Purpose and Strategy setting
 - Business development options
 - Issue resolution
 - Organisation structure and optimisation

As a consultant to Local and Central Government delivering transformational change with:

- Programme and project governance and implementation
- Interim executive management assignments (capacity and capability building)
- Continuous Improvement review and implementation
- Governance performance, induction, training and support
- Organisational (team) structure assessment and implementation
- Team and individual capability development – short and long-term
- Workshop facilitation covering:
 - Purpose and strategy
 - Economic development
 - Long Term Planning
 - Business Case and Project Planning
 - Regulatory performance optimisation

With a wealth of both private and public sector experience, Mark has successfully delivered sustainable value and change across all dimensions of the organisation.

A key driver and focus is always on continuous challenge and improvement resulting in both organisational and individual growth.
